- Between a lake near Koszalin (Koeslin) and the sea shore, new electrically operated antiaircraft guns have been tested, which, when set, fire automatically. The direction of fire was the island of Bornholm. The results of the test seemed to be very poor, since the shells burst a long way beyond their target.
- Three army units are stationed at Slubice, Polish suburb of Frankfurt/Oder: a tank unit, a unit of tanks and guns, and an unidentified unit.
- [REDACTED] an artillery unit stationed at Sulechow (Zuellichow) sent some soldiers by truck to certain state farms to help carry potatoes.
